Will Honor Soldier Dead On Thursday

Proclamation Asks That Every Citizen Wear A
Poppy Tomorrow

In homage to the memory of the war dead, Sierra Madre business will come to standstill Thursday next while Memorial Day ceremonies are conducted at the cemetery.

Dennis H. Stovall has been chosen to give the Memorial address at the cemetery grounds Thursday morning, following the short parade of school children, Boy Scouts, Legionnaires and Veterans of Foreign Wars. The parade will begin at Canyon and Central avenues at 9:30 a. m. instead of at 9 o'clock as was previously planned.

This Sunday Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard will deliver a sermon entitled "In Gratitude" in honor of Memorial Day, while the Congregational Young People's Society plans Memorial Day Prayer Service to be held Thursday morning at 8 o'clock. This service is to be dedicated to world wide peace, and several local young people will take part in the program of music, reading, prayer and devotional talks. Everyone is invited to attend.

WEAR A POPPY

Mayor H. Clay Reavis today proclaimed Saturday Poppy Day in Sierra Madre, and the proclamation urged all citizens to honor the war dead by wearing the American Legion and Auxiliary Memorial poppies. It follows:

"The City of Sierra Madre during the great crisis of the World War sent forth its sons in response to the Nation's call. They served gallantly, and of their numbers some were called upon to lay down their lives in that service. Others of these brave young men were called upon to sacrifice not their lives, but their health and strength. Their families were required to make heavy sacrifices. These disabled men, and the dependents, are still paying the human price for our nation's world war victory.

"From the battle front in France our returning soldiers brought the poppy as a symbol of sacrifice. Each year on the Saturday before Memorial Day the men of the American Legion and the women of the Auxiliary ask us to wear this flower in tribute to the nation's fallen defenders and to give in exchange for the flower a contribution to aid the war's living victims.

"Therefore, I, H. C. Reavis, Mayor of Sierra Madre, urge all citizens to honor the dead and aid the living by wearing the Legion and Auxiliary poppy tomorrow, May 25. And to that end I do hereby proclaim Saturday Poppy Day in this city."

Local Veterans of Foreign Wars post members voted not to sell poppies this year, and the Legion Auxiliary Post No. 291 wishes to thank the V. F. W. organization for its courtesy in making the move.

Condition Of Mrs. Henry Olsen Good After Operation

Mrs. Henry Olsen, wife of the Baldwin avenue shoe merchant, is in St. Luke's Hospital, Pasadena, having undergone a major operation Tuesday morning. Mr. Olsen reports that she is doing as well as can be expected at present. Dr. M. H. A. Peterson is the attending physician.

FEAST OF ST. RITA HERE SUNDAY COMMEMORATES MIRACLE OF THE ROSE BLOOMING IN SNOW

Next Sunday afternoon, May 26th, at 3 o'clock, Catholics from all over the San Gabriel Valley and metropolitan Los Angeles will assemble at St. Rita's church in Sierra Madre to celebrate the Feast of St. Rita.

This annual ceremony marks the conclusion of a novena in honor of St. Rita, who from the time of the Legend of the Rose to the present, is regarded by all the members of St. Rita's society as a miracle Saint worthy of their constant devotion and intercessions.

The Life of Rita of Cascia (St. Rita) will be portrayed in a sermon by Rev. Father Stanislaus, C.P., a missionary priest from the Passionist Retreat House of Sierra Madre, and a noted orator. Other ceremonies will consist of the Blessing of the Roses, Blessing with the Relic of St. Rita and Benediction followed by distribution of the roses.

A beautiful musical program of sacred numbers will be rendered by the choir of St. Rita's, assisted by Miss Regina Gority, of Pasadena, who will sing the Ave Maria. Members of the choir offering selections are Miss Marie

HOME OWNERS AND BUILDERS SEE FHA MOVIE

"Before and After," a dramatized motion picture of what can be accomplished under the Better Housing plan, will be screened in the City Hall Monday evening during Jack Hosford's weekly contractors' class meeting. All home owners as well as those engaged in the building trades are cordially invited to be present.

In the cast of the film are many well known stage and screen stars, including Lucille Sears, Arch Hendricks, Herbert Warren, Frank Roberts, Patricia Quinn and Frank Shannon.

First Line Of Fire Defense Is Augmented

Patrolman And Suppression
Crews Sent Into Hills
About The City

With the approach of the fire hazard season the Forestry Department this week commenced to station men at strategic points throughout the Angeles National Forest area, according to Ranger John Kaye, now stationed in the Sierra Madre City Hall, and to plan unusual precautions against fires.

Patrolman Harmon Schwoob on duty to watch the section north of Sierra Madre and Arcadia a few days ago, and two fire suppression crews have been stationed at the Monrovia Canyon C. C. camp. These crews are backed up by the "Tank Truck" which was purchased by the Forest Service by authorization of the combined cities of Sierra Madre, Arcadia and Monrovia for their mutual protection.

Designed to protect the mountain water sheds from fires starting in the valley and to likewise protect the city from mountain conflagrations, a front line truck trail of fire patrol road is contemplated by the Forestry Department for construction in the near future. The road would skirt the foothills from Little Anita to Pasadena Glenn, and would be closed to public use.

Fire Chief W. D. Richards yesterday joined forces with the forestry men in requesting that the people of Sierra Madre start early in the summer season to use extreme caution with fire in order to prevent the possibility of fire here.

"Newcomers," Chief Richards stated, "are especially apt to disregard the extraordinary fire hazard lurking in this foothill region. They forget that the mountains constitute a veritable tinderbox, and that a stray spark from a carelessly tossed cigarette or incineratory may devastate the entire countryside."

Honors For Three Officers Of OES On Their Birthdays

Mother's Day was appropriately celebrated by members of the OES at the Masonic Temple Monday evening. Upon entering the Chapter room each Mother was presented a corsage of carnations. The meeting was also the occasion for honoring officers and members whose birthdays have occurred in the past three months. Mrs. Mary Wamrock associate matron, Mrs. Alice Hogan conductress, and Frances Brain, associate conductress, were honor guests, as well as Mrs. Hazel Schneberger and Mrs. Hazel Mordridge. The table at which the honor guests were seated was beautifully decorated, and each guest received a corsage of pansies.

Fine Music For Red Cross Here Tonite

Monrovia Symphony Concert
Expected To Jam The School Auditorium

Tonight every Sierra Madreen combining a love of fine music with a love for humanity is urged to attend the Red Cross benefit concert being presented in the local public school auditorium by the famed Monrovia Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Harold H. Scott.

Harold H. Scott

Louis de S. Fuller, well known for his music critiques and highly regarded for his opinions, attests to the high quality of the Monrovia musicians. Yesterday he issued the following statement regarding tonight's concert:

"There, but for the grace of God, go I." When John Bradford made this now famous observation, he referred to a passing criminal. Since the advent of the depression, this great truism has been applicable to many from a financial standpoint. Prosperity? Yes, it's "around the corner" but many have found that poverty descended upon them "ere that magical corner could be reached."

No one could for long be associated with the American Red Cross and not become fully conscious of the philosophy and the universality of Bradford's remark. The Red Cross has fed and clothed the populace, and provided medical aid and even transportation for those in need of medical assistance. One could not commiserate with or even observe some of these destitute cases, but feel that the grace of God was indeed his, and, at the same time wonder if he too, might not yet be a beneficiary of this same great clearing house of human needs!

To thousands, to millions, the Red Cross has been their one refuge, their one support. In our city it is the only distinct charity organization and, as most of us know, it has performed nobly and unstintingly. It has, of course, absolutely no means of helping itself other than by doing a swell job of helping others that others, in turn, through admiration, appreciation and a desire to "do unto others" then help the Red Cross.

Do your part! Attend the concert Friday evening in the local school auditorium, the benefit performance by the Monrovia symphony orchestra, to the end that the proceeds thereof may be unfolded to them by the Little Gallery's first 1935 speaker, Ross Dickinson.

Mr. Dickinson's talk was key-noted by the assertion that self-expression is the greatest outlet for excess energy, and art is the most wholesome activity through which self-expression can find release. He argued that machines have limited the amount of knowledge which individuals need to do their jobs and therefore the element of self-expression is disappearing from the everyday pursuits of industry and commerce.

The audience was extremely interested in his explanation as illustrated by his own paintings, of the use of symbolism, rhythm, perspective and distortion to carry out ideas. How much knowledge and how much thought goes into the building of a picture which presents a definitely planned expression of an idea was well indicated and the listeners went home realizing that modern art is not so queer as they had supposed.

Although Pat is a newcomer to Sierra Madre, he is one of the better known stage stars and screen performers and the Leagues is fortunate in securing a man who has appeared on the stage with Will Rogers in the Ziegfeld Follies and in the Mid-Night Frolic. He also appeared in the London production of "Good News," and was for years one of the most popular masters of ceremony in New York. For several years he headed his own unit over the Fanchon and Marco circuit.

West is gathering some of the cream of stage and screen talent for the benefit and will play an important part in it himself.

Carew Denounces War Racketeers In Biltmore Talk

"The munitions manufacturer who makes war a racket to fatten his own pocketbook, is society's most dangerous enemy," Harold Carew, Sierra Madre literary critic, said in a talk before the California Teacher's Association at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles, Saturday. He pleaded for legislation to take the profit out of war, and also urged that in time of war industry and capital be drafted just as soldiers are.

Last Of Santa Anita Tract Subdivided

Historic Central Ave. Property Is Now Site For Modern Homes

Gradually, in step with time the extensive ranches of old California are being whittled down to the city-sized subdivisions. This week comes the announcement that the Santa Anita tract, on West Central avenue and Montecito street, has gone through its final transformation, having been divided into several residential parcels, and renamed Bonifillo Park.

The land, once a section of the Santa Anita lands embracing 1,000 acres of the western portion of Sierra Madre, was sold by the Baldwins to the Carters in the pioneer days of the city. It then extended from Orange Grove to the foothills. Then in 1880 Anastasius Gregory, father of Albert Gregory who now manages the Hastings Ranch, purchased the acreage across from the present library, which extends north of Montecito street. It was Gregory who built the original home on the property, which is now being remodeled. Some 25 years ago the five acres remaining intact were sold to the Fowler family.

Since the subdivision much improvement work has been done in clearing the citrus orchard and landscaping. David Plan and S. Tolchinsky, both of Pasadena, have purchased the west two acres of land, and already have drawn up architectural plans for a Spanish type 10-room home to face Central avenue, the lot extending through to Montecito.

Other adjacent building sites have been purchased by Mrs. Georgia West, Justus Kraft, Ida Obst and Miss Emma Jamieson, according to W. R. Humphries, real estate officer.

Symbolism In Art Little Gallery Lecture Subject

By Vernon Jay Morse

A small but very interested group listened Tuesday evening to the present and future of art being unfolded to them by the Little Gallery's first 1935 speaker, Ross Dickinson.

Mr. Dickinson's talk was key-noted by the assertion that self-expression is the greatest outlet for excess energy, and art is the most wholesome activity through which self-expression can find release. He argued that machines have limited the amount of knowledge which individuals need to do their jobs and therefore the element of self-expression is disappearing from the everyday pursuits of industry and commerce.

How much knowledge and how much thought goes into the building of a picture which presents a definitely planned expression of an idea was well indicated and the listeners went home realizing that modern art is not so queer as they had supposed.

British Home To Welcome Visitors

Nationally and internationally prominent Britains will be members of a delegation visiting the Sierra Madre British Old People's Home Saturday as luncheon guests, prior to a tour of the Huntington Library. Among the guests at Saturday's luncheon is Mrs. Cook Adams, the founder. The organization's National convention is being held in Los Angeles this week end, and many Sierra Madreens are attending.

Federal Aid Wanted For Local Work

Plans Prepared For Two SERA Projects — Marlborough Road Paving

City Business Manager Al S. Myers informed the City Council Wednesday evening that Sierra Madre engineers are preparing plans and specifications for at least two major city projects which will be submitted to SERA headquarters before June 1, with an excellent chance of acceptance and the beginning of work by July 1.

SERA headquarters informed Myers early this week that the government agency is commencing with renewed vigor to administer the extensive work relief funds recently voted by Congress, and requested local authorities to submit project plans immediately.

Under the new regulations the government furnished labor for public projects, and also furnishes funds for materials up to 25 percent of the total cost of labor and materials.

Following the appearance before it of Frank Gibson, representing Marlborough Terrace property owners on Wednesday, the Council authorized Myers to prepare plans for submission to the SERA on the proposed Marlborough Road street improvement. Some months ago property owners of the area agreed to furnish $800 of the cost of widening and paving if the city furnished the remainder. Now it is thought probable that SERA labor will be supplied by the government.

The roadway, very narrow in places, was never dedicated to the city by the subdividers. It averages only about 10 feet in width and is very rough and unsafe after rains. It is proposed to make it 15 feet wide, where the mountainous condition will permit and to give it a rock and oil surface.

City League Ball Games Are Assured

It looked good for the formation of a City Baseball League when more than 30 eager young athletes responded to a call for a meeting of those who wished to join up with such an organization. Jack Brain met the fellows at the appointed place — the school athletic field — on Monday evening. Herding them into the grandstand he told them all about it — what is necessary if the fellows are to have the opportunity to play a regularly scheduled series of games during the season.

"We are certain of enough good players for a four-club league right now," said Brain after the meeting, "and by the time we have another meeting next Monday night there may be enough suitable material for six teams."

Next Monday night's meeting will be held at the school grounds. The boys were told to come prepared for practice.

Another week is expected to see the league on schedule.

It is planned to select out of the four teams already assured an all-star aggregation to play out of town games, and perhaps to compete in the Southern California night league conference later in the summer. Again everybody trying out for the teams is urged by Brain to report for practice Monday night, May 27.

Cream Of Stage And Screen Actors Are Booked For Benefit

Pat West, genial, portly comic and master of ceremonies, widely known for his generosity in playing his hands and is busy signing up talent, rehearsing acts, directing the painting of scenery and drops, for it.

This time the benefit is for the Municipal Art League of Sierra Madre. It will be held on the night of Saturday, June 8, in the school auditorium.

Although Pat is a newcomer to Sierra Madre, he is one of the better known stage stars and screen performers and the Leagues is fortunate in securing a man who has appeared on the stage with Will Rogers in the Ziegfeld Follies and in the Mid-Night Frolic. He also appeared in the London production of "Good News," and was for years one of the most popular masters of ceremony in New York. For several years he headed his own unit over the Fanchon and Marco circuit.

YOY SKINNAY! C'MON IN, THE WATER'S FINE

When the days start getting warm enough for you to forget you ever wore such a thing as a topcoat, and the kids leave their sweaters for the moths to gnaw on — "them's swimmin' days!"

When you get absent minded in the afternoon and want to throw a cover over the typewriter and go places — it's time for the old swimming hole.

So Thursday, on Memorial Day, the Sierra Madre Canyon Plunge opens for another summer season. For years the crystal clear pool, in its picturesque canyon setting under the tall sycamore trees, has been the city's vacation center for children and grown-ups alike. The past week Jim Heasley has been scouring and painting, getting the plunge in readiness for the opening, and several swimming parties are already being planned for Thursday. Before very long the grand old cry will again be echoing upstream:

"First one in is a sissie..."

Tragedy struck for the third time at the family of Mrs. A. C. Young last Thursday evening, when 11 year-old Aubrey Young, Jr., accidentally shot himself while at play with other children near his home at 431 Ramona avenue.

Yesterday doctors at the Pasadena Hospital were hopeful for his recovery, as his condition showed gradual improvement through the week. The 22 calibre bullet, which was discharged under his trouser leg, entered the inside of the thigh, pierced the bladder and in its upward course punctured the lower intestine eight times.

Aubrey and his playmates had been engaged in target practice in a vacant lot shortly before the accident, having gained possession of the rifle by disobedience of the boy attempted to conceal the weapon under his trousers before going into the house, when suddenly he fell writhing to the ground.

"I'm shot," he said.

His companions thought at first he was joking. Then they thought he was killed. They ran away.

Frank Spencer passed the vacant lot at that time, saw Aubrey on the ground and went to his assistance. Dr. M. H. A. Peterson was summoned and the boy was rushed to the hospital where immediate precautions precluded the almost inevitable ravages of peritonitis and pneumonia. Yesterday he was taking some nourishment.

It was a short two months ago that Aubrey "Cy" Young unexpectedly passed away following an appendix operation only two weeks later that little Jack Young, his youngest son, died from a mald operation.

Candidates For Womans Club Named

Nominating Committee Suggests Mrs. Fletcher White
For 1935-36 President

The nominating committee of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club has submitted the name of Mrs. Fletcher White as its choice for the next president of the organization. The committee, consisting of Mesdames Sandage, Dalzell and Webster, presented its report to Wednesday's meeting of the club.

Other selections by the committee were Mrs. Henry Lannon, Jr., for first vice-president; Mrs. Franklin W. Swift, for second vice-president; Miss Florence Gilmore, for recording secretary; Miss Mildred Bolins for corresponding secretary; auditor, Mrs. George H. Lehner, and Mrs. Sandage for treasurer.

The directors nominated from the floor were: Mrs. A. E. Pulling, Mrs. R. L. Kruger, Mrs. Webster, Mrs. Milton Hollingsworth, and Mrs. Frank Spencer.

Mrs. Pulling announced a "get-together" meeting of interest for sometime in June.

"Dinner's Served" is the name of the play to be staged by pupils of St. Rita's Parochial School at St. Rita's auditorium at 8 o'clock Thursday night, June 6.

Santa Anita Dam Claims New Victim

Boy Fisherman Plunges 85
Feet From Rocky Cliff
To His Death

Working in 24 hour shifts, a C.C.C. crew under Forest Service supervision has spent the entire week dragging the waters above the Big Santa Anita Dam for the body of Lee Elson, 10, who plunged 85 feet to his death while fishing shortly after dawn Sunday.

Up until yesterday afternoon no trace had been found of the body, and it was believed that it was firmly lodged in a rock crevice near the dam's base or badly entangled in under-water weeds. Iron grappling hooks were being used in the search, and two motor generators are feeding powerful flood lights for night work.

Sunday, in the grey, cold light before sunup, Officer Harlan Gerlach and Joe Swanson took their home-made fishing boat up to the dam lake. Near the dam they passed a party of boy fishermen.

"Swell day for fishin,' ain't it?" called one of the youngsters.

Later Henry Neutzel was fishing from the bank, while Gerlach and Swanson were around the bend a short distance. Neutzel is an expert swimmer, having been a scout leader in the sport. Gerlach could see Neutzel on the bank, but he couldn't see the boys around the bend. Suddenly Neutzel yelled:

"Harlan, I think that kid is drowning."

Rowing frantically, Gerlach saw a childish hand above the surface of the water only a few feet from the bank. Neutzel was in the water, making for the spot. Gerlach dived and Neutzel dived again and again finding it difficult to gain much depth in the cold mountain water. Eventually they had to give it up; there was no trace of the drowned lad.

Young Elson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Elson of Temple City. His father, who is employed at Boulder Dam, was telegraphed of the tragedy, sped here to aid in the search. On the ill-fated fishing party were Ben Elson, Jr., 13, who strove in vain to aid his drowning brother, and Ray and Lloyd Lineen, of Monrovia.

"We tried so hard," Ben told his mother. "We tried, but he was too heavy... The bank crumbled under where he was standing."

Home Artists Win Awards In Festival

Local Student With Two Years' Training Arouses
Interest At Exhibition

The grand climax of the Festival of Allied Arts competitions in painting, drawing, printmaking and sculpture was the awarding of prizes at the Los Angeles Museum Sunday.

Sierra Madre is well represented in the exhibition which the Festival has staged in the Museum and which will be on view until June 1. Among the paintings exhibited by local artists are works by Miss Florence Gilmore, Mrs. Laura Smart, Alfred James Dewey and Vernon Jay Morse.

Of great local interest was the winning of an honorable mention by Mrs. Laura Smart for her charcoal drawing of Mount Wilson stables. Mrs. Smart has advanced to prize-winning calibre from scratch in less than two years. She enrolled at the Old Barn Studio in June, 1933, and studied there for one year. This last year she has studied in the private classes of Alfred James Dewey and Vernon Morse and her advancement has been remarkable. The drawing which won her the award was made in Mr. Dewey's Saturday landscape class and this notable recognition should do much to boost interest and attendance in our local art classes.

Mrs. Margaret Bode is represented in the water color class. Two of her works are in the exhibition. A miniature by Miss Catherine Bode, talented pupil of Miss Ella Shepard Bush and Henry Ivin's Hawkhurst, is a highlight among the tiny works shown.

Vernon Morse was given the first award in the printmaking division for the print "Midday in Apollonia Street," a reproduction of which has been seen in these columns. The special prize was also awarded to Mr. Morse. The prize was an English book containing 31 wood engravings by Douglas Percy Bliss.

YOUNG PERFORMERS IN FAIRY- LAND OF BLOOMS MAKE FESTIVAL OF FLOWERS BRILLIANT SPECTACLE

A LITTLE CHILD shall lead them," said Rev. A. O. Pritchard in his address of welcome prefacing the "Festival of Flowers" which was presented on Friday evening, in behalf of the First Congregational Church, in the school auditorium. And the truth of this statement was demonstrated in no small degree, for friends came forth from every corner of Wistaria Town to witness the production.

They were gladdened at the sight of refreshing little faces looking very much like the buds they represented. Mrs. Waverly E. Pratt, into whose care the training of the wee ones is given each year, can feel assured the words: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant," have been voiced by every church-member and mother.

A garden scene of unusual beauty greeted the vision of the audience. Fragrant baskets of p-dragons and ferns converted lighting fixtures into fairy deliers, and luxuriant masses of genista, syringa and tamarisks intertwined with roses and blossoms presented a world fit for a queen. Mesdames Embree, Twycross, Walsworth, Flo Moeller, Adwell, Preston and Spoelstra with Mrs. W. H. Hull, and Mr. R. S. Corlett assisted Mrs. Pratt.

From the time Patricia Blithon in the role of "Mother Earth," and Clay Reavis, Jr., as "King Winter," announced the awakening of Spring and the advent of the Spring Fairies led by dainty Roberta Roberts to the finale which had its climax in the classically-executed Floral dance by a group of wood dryads, the gossamer threads of realism were held together.

The rustling "April Showers" with their melody of "Pitter-Patter" scintillated through a glorified garden of fairies in diaphanous tulle, and sunbeams in glimmering gold in a delightful manner.

And when Marguerite Adwell as "Butterfly" shimmered from flower to flower, one knew she was living St. Vincent Millay's thought:

"I will be the gladdest thing under the sun!
I will touch a hundred flowers and not pick one!"

In her wake followed two rosy, chubby baby butterflies who looked more like delectable cupids than any thing else. These came from the House of Norris. When Jean Spoelstra, as the "Queen of Flowerland," and Lorne Pratt as the "King," entered this domain to the strains of Mrs. Harry Lange's triumphal march, they were joyously welcomed by all of the Kingdom's little flowers who had lain dormant during the days of frost. These were: Idella Taylor, Marion Carlton, Marita Preston, Elsiebeth Jackson, Happy Heasley, and Maxine Burroughs.

The duty of arranging the Queen's lovely robes and cape of shaded yellow petals fell to MaryLou Lovejoy, and Jean Thayer. The scepter-bearer, in scarlet and gold, was Norman Morrison, the cameo-like crown-bearer in delicate, pale-blue, ruffled organza, was Evelyn Noshier. Gifts from the Empire were laid at their Majesties' feet by subjects loyal and true.

But were these really children who were uttering sentiments of such depth? 'Out of the mouths of babes,' were heard lessons that adults could well imbibe. "Success is not in getting rich," said Marguerite Pickett to her King and Queen with all the earnestness of a sage. The dignity of the youthful King, clad in regal violet which seemed to radiate as an aura, was, likewise, most interesting.

The big moment for Ana Sue Adwell came after her dedicatory offering of "Love and The Bible" for which she was crowned "The Queen of the May."

Their Majesties and Court were entertained after these proceedings with the proverbial Maypole dance. Miss Dorothy Pratt sang "Glow-worms." Graceful maidens in filmy gowns of pastel hues wove their devious way in and around the pole. They were: Irene Dalzell, Marilyn Middough, Geraldine Davis, Muriel Royce, Charlene Norris, Irene Lloyd, Frances Robertson, Elizabeth Tarr, Wilma Smith, and Miss Marjorie Croan. Victoria Ballesteros accompanied this group and Mrs. Al Myers had charge of their training.

Who knows how many potential Shirley Temples will emanate from these ranks?
Mildred Curtis Bolms.

The Nation's No. 1 industry, motor car manufacturing, is setting a five-year high on production and despite this pace is barely able to keep abreast of consumer demand and while production will taper away some from now on, manufacturers believe they will produce close to a million more units than in 1934, with higher wages being paid and more employment.

The editor of the Kansan, Concordia, Kansas, believes that the NRA has been altogether too expensive, and says the $41,000,000 a year to administer the 700 codes, "doesn't tell the whole story by a good deal, because one can even approximate the cost when the thousands of small businesses 'killed' by the NRA are taken into consideration.

Retail sales have maintained their volume surprisingly through the first months of the year. Steel production, after reaching the highest point in years, tapered off some but a new peak is expected during the present quarter. Wages equal to and above 1929 wages are being paid with peak employment. Residential construction over the country is steadily advancing.

According to the latest official advice from Washington to Director Earl Lee Kelly of the Department of Public Works, California will receive approximately $5,200,000 that will be available for new construction projects on the State highway system in addition to those now authorized in the 1935-37 budget.

Do you drive your auto 7250 miles a year? The average California car owner does, it was developed by the State Division of Highways in a road transportation survey. This mileage was arrived at by questioning drivers of 108,000 passenger autos, about 6 per cent of the entire passenger car registration for last year of 1,712,000. It also was found that the average age of passenger motor vehicles is 5.3 years. Half of the total number are nearly six years old; in fact, one-fourth are more than seven years old.

Farmers of California will enjoy the largest profits in 20 years from their barley crop this Fall because of increased consumption of beer. According to estimates made public by the Commerce department, California will market 16,240,000 bushels of barley, one-third of which will be purchased by the brewing industry.

Automobile and train collisions, a most fatal and fearful form of accident, result largely from motorists running into the side of trains, it was revealed in an analysis reported yesterday by the State Highway Patrol. Most of these smashups in which trains were hit involved passenger cars, trains in motion, and occurred after dark, especially between midnight and 1 o'clock in the morning.

Ventura's annual pioneer celebration "The Days of the Golden West" will be staged May 24, 25 and 26. Thousands of visitors are expected for the gala festivities in which practically all residents will be on "dress parade" in costumes of the pioneers of early western days. A rodeo and wild west show are scheduled to be held in Seaside Park on each of the three days.

Plans for a 15-man Board of Supervisors to determine policies and handle legislative functions, and a county manager to control administrative activities, were recommended by the Committee on Government Simplification to the County Board this week. The new form of county government assertedly would simplify and economize present conditions.

Due to the consolidation of townships ordered last summer, a saving of more than $100,000 annually is being effected in the operation of county constabulary and justice courts. This estimate, based on county auditor figures for the first quarter of 1935, proved that nearly three-fourths of the savings is being made in the constabulary division of the sheriff's office.

Arcadia's City Council and the Board of Supervisors have joined forces in asking the Legislature to pass a "race horse tax" bill, the proceeds of which would go to the city of Arcadia and the county for the purpose of relieving the extra taxpayer's burden.

Requiring all horse owners to register their horses wherever they are racing, and providing that the books be open to the county on the first day of March, the bill would offset expenses of county policing. Arcadia figures it would receive about $75,000 in revenue from the track in lieu of the $100 a day license fee it receives this year.

California gasoline taxes for April reached a total of $3,663,976.11, or $20,139.92 more than an increase of 10.2 per cent.

In a Social Way

MISS Marjorie Stinman was very pleasantly surprised with a kitchen shower at the regular meeting of the Junior American Legion Auxiliary, Saturday, May 18, at the City Hall Basement. Miss Stinman is the first Past President of the Sierra Madre Juniors, and is their present Advisor. The Juniors presented her with an assortment of kitchen implements and an aluminum double boiler. Following the business meeting, they staged a mock wedding. Grace Jensen acting as the minister, Idella Taylor the groom, and Finell Hill as the bride, while Beverly Taylor was the flower girl, and Mary Lou Lovejoy the bridesmaid. Muriel Downs was ring bearer, the wedding ring being a huge doughnut which the groom placed on the bride's thumb. The minister asked some very personal questions, such as "will you dry the dishes and beat rugs for your awful wedded wife any time she may request you to do such?" The questions were answered very truthfully, for the groom said "no!" A picture of the wedding party was taken, and the meeting place was tastefully decorated with a profusion of flowers. Refreshments of punch and cookies climaxed a happy afternoon for the Juniors.

To mark the 23rd anniversary of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Schaefer of La Casa Serena, entertained a party of their friends for dinner at an Arcadia cafe on Saturday. Among those present in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Schaefer were Otto Peterson of Arcadia; Frank Harriman, Alhambra; Dr. Alice McConaughy of South Pasadena; Mrs. Vivian Harriman, and Miss Marjorie Kay of Alhambra; Mr. and Mrs. Thorne S. Mathis and Mr. and Mrs. Gale B. Williams, of Sierra Madre.

Dinner guests at the Col. H. B. Hersey home, 575 North Hermosa avenue, Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Kirkpatrick of West Hollywood.

One of the lovely social affairs of the week was a desert bridge which Mrs. J. N. Cornell, of 1923 Fairview avenue, East San Gabriel, entertained at her home on Wednesday, having as her guests members of the Woodrow Wilson Parent Teacher's Association.

WILL SEE FAIR OPENED

Activities Of Children's Drama Guild Are Felt Now In Community; Participating In Many Local Events

TEN new members were enrolled at the last two meetings of the Children's Drama Guild. Activities of the children are being felt in the community. Mary Lou Lovejoy and Grace Jensen appeared on the Mother's Day program, presented for the American Legion Auxiliary; Dolores Bartold gave a reading at the Allied Artists' Competitive Festival in Los Angeles and the following children appeared in the Congregational Festival of Flowers: Clay Reavis, Jr., Patsy Moeller, Mary Moeller, Alberta Myers, Dorothy Smith, Helen Askew, Nancy Bumpus, Jean Thayer, Wilma Smith, Beverly Taylor, Billy Adwell, Margaret Adwell, George Tyree, Mary Lou Lovejoy, Idella Taylor, Elsie Jackson, Marilyn Midgough, Geraldine Davis, Muriel Royce, Irene Lloyd, Anna Sue Adwell, Dorothy Hall.

Margaret Adwell, by vote of other Guild children present at the festival, won first honors. Margaret besides being a guild member is a dance pupil of the de Beaulieu studios. Sue Adwell won second place and Patsy Moeller third.

The director of the guild will attend ensemble rehearsals of the coming Shakespearean Chronicle productions to be given during the summer at the Pasadena Community Playhouse. The children will be advised when their rehearsals are called.

At the last meeting the coming rummage sale was discussed. Billy Adwell and Clay Reavis have charge of the business arrangements. The sale will be conducted in the vacant stores next to the Safeway on Baldwin avenue, Saturday, June 1. Names of saleswomen will be announced later. The guild will be happy to accept gifts for this sale. Donations may be sent to the director, 194 Mariposa avenue.

Aided by Mrs. Russell Tyree, the following children have put the costume and scenery store-room in order, Lois Pickett, Irene Lloyd, Geraldine Lloyd, Donna Jean Perry, Esther Richter and Geraldine Davis. They will receive service stars. It is with regret that the Guild children bid goodbye to Wanda Cole who will return to her home in Encinitas at the close of school. Elsie Jackson received an award at last Saturday's meeting for assuming the program for Ada May Hill. Betty Askew, George Tyree, Marjorie Royce and Sue Adwell received awards.

Baldwin Project Moves Forward As Cities Allied

This week at a meeting of the Stearns-Madre-Arcadia Baldwin Avenue Improvement Association, Temple City is being asked to participate and to formally announce its backing of the project designed to extend Baldwin avenue from Foothill boulevard south of Sierra Madre through the Baldwin estate to Huntington Drive.

Approval of the local Chamber of Commerce, Planning Commission and City Council, as well as of the Arcadia Chamber and Council is being officially recorded with the association also, according to Mrs. Jessica H. Wright, secretary of the organization.

Temple City has already unofficially stated its intention of abandoning the Rosemead avenue extension project in order to throw full weight back of the Baldwin avenue "mountain to the sea" plan.

CAMPERS MUST HAVE FIRE PERMITS NOW

Motorists who plan to tour, camp, fish or hunt in the National Forests are advised in a statement by the Forest service, that it is necessary to have permits in order to build campfires. These are now being issued and may be obtained at all offices of the Automobile Club of Southern California. They are good for the entire year and available without charge.

MEETING night tonight and a good report is expected from the various committees on the forthcoming firemen's picnic.

Harlan Gerlach can faithfully report that he typed about 330 letters that required several days of his off time. Long in the wee hours of the morning when he should have been at home in bed, the typewriter of the police department could be heard ticking out notes at the rate of grandfather's clock.

In his efforts to rescue the drowning boy at the Santa Anita Dam, Harlan Gerlach so soaked his shoes that he was unable to wear them. The result was that as he continued to aid in the search of the boy in his bare feet, his feet became sunburned to a severe degree.

Harlan is an expert swimmer, but due to being so far away when he discovered the boy was drowning, he was unable to be of any assistance.

The early part of this week brought some summer weather with a bang! There are several lots about town that are being taken care of. Now is the time to get those lots put in a safe condition before someone throws a match or cigarette butt into the long tall weeds.

Sierra Madre is not to be outdone by any "get something for nothing" rackets. Several of the boys have ridden the mules to the Holy Land for a nickel, while a few have paid a dollar to get to the top of the list that is supposed to pay them $10. Even the Southwest corner has gone dime nutty. Louie demanded that every member drop a dime in the gift box to help pay for the wear and tea on the table.

CLIMBING ROSES

By Jessie Ward Russell Landscape Gardener

MANY of our very popular roses can now be had in vigorous climbing plants. Climbing Talisman has been one of the "best sellers" for several years now and the climbing variety is just as beautiful a rose and will no doubt be one of the most popular climbing roses. The long slender buds are variegated red and gold. Climbing Dame Edith Helen produces flowers even larger than the bush variety by the same name. The immense blossoms are a clear, medium pink, fragrant and are produced on long stiff stems. But one of the best things about this rose is its keeping quality, both on the bush and when cut.

Climbing Mme. Edward Herriot is a sensational coppery orange color that makes this variety outstanding. The flowers are produced in great profusion.

The climbing Rose Marie produces an abundance of beautifully formed clear pink roses. If you would have roses at all seasons of the year, choose this climber. The blossoms are so well-formed they resemble hot-house roses.

Climbing Los Angeles has the same salmon-pink coloring as the popular bush variety and blooms just as freely throughout the year.

The Hadley bush rose has for years been about the most popular deep red rose grown. The climbing variety will produce even more of these glorious blossoms than the bush variety.

Climbing Souvenir Claudius Pernet and Climbing Golden Emblem are both splendid, vigorous climbing golden-yellow roses. The blossoms are very similar on these two varieties although the foliage is slightly different. The flowers are large and well formed with outer petals tinted red. These petals turn back as the flowers open so that the roses appear to be clear yellow

NEXT month is usually looked upon as the exclusive property of Dan Cupid, June brides and everything that goes to launch the love era on the sea of uncertainty. But this year June will have a different significance to the members of our community for it will be the second anniversary of the launching of the Municipal Art League. To start the ball rolling there will be the all star vaudeville entertainment at the school auditorium given as a benefit for the Art League under the expert supervision of Pat West. What this community needs is not a better five cent cigar but more Pat Wests. Had Pat been born quintuplets instead of just one jovial dynamo of human energy and scattered himself over the scenery more, it's a cinch the world would be a better place in which to live.

A week after Pat puts on his show, on June 15th to be explicit, the "Old Barn" is going to cavort as it has never cavorted before. There will be an outdoor stage, a brass band, an orchestra, Hawaiian singers... oodles of talent. The best part of it is the public is invited as guests of the League to see an exhibit of students work which will adorn the "Old Barn's" walls. All of this will be made possible by the cooperation of the city fathers, various civic organizations and last but by no means least, the splendid help and encouragement given by Miss Christine Lofstedt, Supervisor of the Educational work relief project under which the League has been operating since February 1. There will be a lot more to tell as the committee has just been formed and by watching THE NEWS for details you'll be kept fully informed.

COLORADANS TO PICNIC
Former residents of Pueblo County, Colorado, will picnic Sunday, May 28th, at Redondo Beach City Park. Take your friends and lunch baskets. F. B. Martin, secretary, says speaking by prominent ex-Pueblo people will be part of the program.

Be careful for nothing; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God.—Phil. IV:6.

THE LOOKOUT STATION

WE CAN'T GET the psychology which influences men to retrench through lack of confidence in the Nation's economic future. Their philosophy of conduct is so impracticable...

In the first place, believing in America, the best way a business can weather any social readjustment and economic slump is to do all in its power to keep its individual head above water. Always it is much easier to expend energy in keeping yourself afloat than it is to allow yourself to drift under with the expectation of struggling frantically as soon as you see the shadow of the lifeboat overhead. You're liable to be out of breath by that time.

Again, if you're the type of pessimist who has given everything up as a bad job because political trends don't fit in with your nineteenth century picture, you can still butter your bread a lot thicker by putting everything you've got into the game. If you aren't doing all in your power to strengthen the system you believe in, by sticking to business as in the past, you have neither right nor hope to expect your waiting to be heard above the multitude.

Twenty-five years after every boom, when the young men of yesterday are the middle aged men of today, we hear this:

"Think of it—I could have bought that corner for ten thousand dollars. Now it's worth a fortune!... If I'd have had the courage then... I mean if I had as much courage then as I have knowledge now—I would own this joint now instead of being nothing but a..."

Some few men, whom we don't hear from, might say merely: "I DID; so now I AM."

And whether you string along with the majority, or hold the dissenting opinion of Assistant Secretary Tugwell, the fact remains that the biggest and strongest factor in economic advancement today is advertising. The entire National life is directly bound to the theory presupposing that the best way to let the world know you've got something to sell is to tell them about it.

Outworn is the saw about the mousetrap. Too many merchants aren't aware of this, but is so indisputably. Your mousetrap isn't worth the cheese its baited with if you draw down the shades so the big mousetrap manufacturers can't see in.

Probably the major hindrance standing in the way of the average businessman or merchant, particularly in a small town, is his own inability to recognize that an advertising appropriation should not be checked off on the expense side of the ledger. Money spent in newspaper advertising doesn't bear relationship to money spent in rent, salaries and similar overhead for the reason that it is strictly an investment paying dividends in good-will and increased sales.

Nobody in Sierra Madre advertises because they can "afford" to; but because they cannot afford NOT to.

An advertising medium to be productive and successful must create public reader interest.

That is why from the advertiser's standpoint a newspaper is head and shoulders above a circular. While THE NEWS covers the entire city with a shopping section of the paper, the pull of the display columns is dependent on the interest of Sierra Madreans in the happenings around and about them.

Give that a thought the next time you're considering whether it is economical to purchase irresponsible advertising space or whether your "ad" should appear in the community newspaper.

VERILY, VERILY

Under the caption, "Doles vs. Self Respecting Jobs," Neal Van Sooy writes in the Azusa Herald as follows:

"During the past month, one local man closed out his business and went on relief, realizing that he could get more money for less work in this way.

"This man's business was small and not very profitable, but at any rate, it was a self-respecting job. Now that's all over, and he's living off the county and Nation—a burden on taxpayers.

"It is easy to understand the feelings of any man who gives up a business which is barely breaking even, when he sees fellow citizens drawing weekly checks from relief agencies. The fault is not so much his, as it is the government's for being so open-handed.

"There are many genuine cases of need to which all citizens must contribute. But when the government goes so far in handing out doles that initiative is taken away from men and women who should be working, then the Nation is headed for oblivion as complete as the old Egyptian, Grecian and Roman empires now enjoy."

LETTERS From Readers

RADIO IS A NUISANCE THIS READER THINKS

To the Editor of the Sierra Madre News:

Has not the time arrived for the authorities to take some action toward abating the radio nuisance in this town? One can seldom sit down to read or write without being assailed by three or four different programs at the same time. On Sunday morning, during a walk down Baldwin avenue, I was able to hear for three blocks one machine blaring forth Bing Crosby's rendition of "Suwanee River"—this despite the fact that divine service was being held a few houses away.

Radio fans do not seem to realize that radios can be tuned so that they can be heard perfectly without the sound passing the boundaries of their homes, and that in allowing a flood of noise loose on the air they are destroying the liberty and rights of others.

The average program is becoming increasingly idiotic and irritating. The radio is, in 95 per cent of programs, the last resort of the intellectually destitute. Many people came to Sierra Madre, myself for one, because of its reputation for peace and quiet. A walk through the streets in the afternoon or evening is about as peaceful as a stroll through the midway of a beach resort at the height of the season.

During the war many were "shell-shocked." I subscribe myself as "RADIO SHOCKED."

PEN SLANTS

By John Copeland

MODERN artists—painters, writers and other artisans have only to look to the past either for inspiration or discouragement. Depends on how they react to prodigious example. For instance, the collection of Gerome's work, which Mrs. May Barlow presented to the Municipal Art League a couple of years ago.

Gerome, who died in the early part of this century, managed to give the impression of being centuries old. Critics rail him for his photographic realism, but that very point makes him utterly amazing. In the photograph reproductions of his paintings it is absolutely impossible to find a fault of drawing or of detail. He has one imperial court scene in which hundreds of heads are not mere fill-ins but are actual portraits, and all of the architectural background is with corresponding fidelity.

How any one man managed to accomplish the physical labor incidental to hundreds of such paintings is a puzzle. How any man gained the necessary knowledge of historic minutiae for such as Gerome's scenes, how he found the time for application and research, and how he retained the same precision no matter what his subject, seems unanswerable.

Anyway, a study of his work is a valuable lesson for the dilettante of today whose interests are bounded by mental provincialism and whose output is arbitrarily limited by lack of confinement of vigor.

FOR once the advance ballyhoo was no better than the event, and in the Monrovia Day parade over 400 horses were entered. There's no lack of interest in fine horses in California. Next meeting at Santa Anita we hope they inaugurate a California bred saddle horse handi-cap that would attract ranches from all over the State and be a great magnet for spectators. Besides, Master Tony would have someplace to run then.

IF Lee Shippey's contention is correct that the whole world is mirrored in Ourville's placid countenance, then we can be pretty sure that the most logical and workable form of taxation is the State lottery in one form or another.

About 4 o'clock Monday afternoon the latest great American institution—the one-dollar cash-and-carry chain list—found its way into Sierra Madre. Ten dollars for the price of one. Suh!

In an hour there were 50 names on the list, and five people had collected.

Discounting any question of morality (phantom word, with as many definitions as there are human prejudices) one of the most compelling lures in all creation is the get-rich-quick, something-for-nothing pot o' gold. Little Jno. Public don't mind coughing up his dollar for taxes if there is the remotest possibility that he's going to collect a small fortune after the race, or after the drawing, or after the wheel is through spinning.

OKLAHOMA AND MICHIGAN TO HOLD STATE PICNICS

Oklahomans in Southern California will hold their annual picnic reunion all day Thursday, May 30th, Decoration Day, in Sycamore Grove Park. President William G. Condon and his co-workers are planning to make it a great event in the history of the Oklahoma State Society.

President E. E. Haring announces the annual picnic of the Michiganders, at Bixby Park, Long Beach, all day, Saturday, June 1st, with basket dinner at noon and splendid program to follow of music and addresses. Each county will have its own section and registers at least 10,000 Wolverines are expected.

As long as war is sentimentalized, sentiment will ferment war.

WHILE ago somebody wrote in suggesting that the City Hall establish a sort of "date clearing house" for local events. Nothing has been done about it, and in consequence we find the weekend of June 6, 7 and 8 cluttered up with three programs, each of which should be of much interest to the community.

EVEN Tom Neale's romantic snake story has been substantiated. We've heard that at Laguna (a town overrun with rattlers) the snakes may be observed daily swimming about the lagoon, and that swimmers have to be careful. Embarrassing to find one's water-wing punctured by a snake-in-the-water.

TONIGHT don't miss the opportunity of hearing the Monrovia Symphony Orchestra which is playing at the local school auditorium. You'll be rewarded with fine music, as well as by the satisfaction of supporting a most deserving cause—the Red Cross.

A MOCK WEDDING marked the surprise shower given for our Junior's Advisor, Marjorie Stinman who is to be married to Charles Peterson on June 1st, 1935. A number of useful as well as beautiful gifts were received by Miss Stinman.

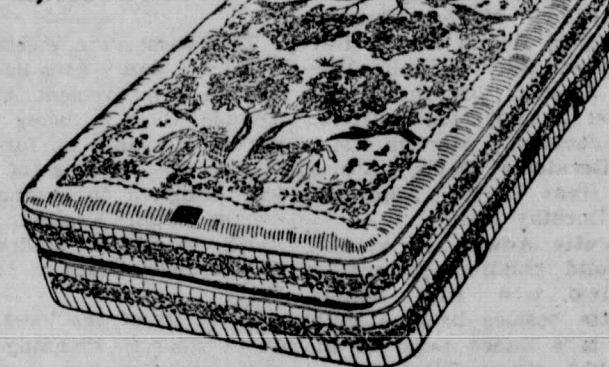

A group of several members attended the district meeting at La Verne on Monday evening, where the annual nomination of district officers took place. These will remain open in case there are any more names to be added to the list already prepared at this meeting. Plans are now being formulated by a committee, for our part in the Memorial Day Services to be held as usual in our own cemetery. Details will be in THE NEWS.

One of our esteemed members was in a double accident on her trek across country. Elva Reavis was the victim of still another accident on her way home. We trust she is feeling very much better now.

Corinne Wastun and children are improved and we hope to see her out to the meetings regularly.

A RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE, DETERMINING AND DECLARING THAT WEEDS WHICH BEAR SEEDS OF A WINGY OR DOWNY NATURE, OR ATTAIN SUCH A LARGE GROWTH AS TO BECOME A FIRE MENACE WHEN DRY, OR WHICH ARE OTHERWISE NOXIOUS OR DANGEROUS, ARE GROWING UPON CERTAIN STREETS, SIDEWALKS AND PRIVATE PROPERTY IN SAID CITY OF SIERRA MADRE AND ARE A PUBLIC NUISANCE AND DECLARING THE INTENTION OF SAID CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE, TO ORDER THE ABATEMENT OF THE SAME AT THE COST OF THE PROPERTY OWNERS AS PROVIDED BY LAW.

Sierra Madre Tourists Back From Three Months Voyage Across Pacific

FILLED with wonderment at the paradoxical mingling of the ancient and the modern in the Orient, and expressing great enjoyment of the strange peoples and places they saw, Miss Laura Cadmus and Miss Dagmar Johnson returned to Sierra Madre Thursday from a three months' voyage to the Philippines and Japan.

Leaving Los Angeles Harbor in mid February on the Norwegian liner Tai-Ping (Great Peace), the two women charted their course on a Pacific map, down by way of the great southern circle route north of the Hawaiian Islands to Manila and the far East, then back by way of the northern circle Compressed in the 90 days represented on the chart were a multitude of impressions of scenes, peoples, political situations and interesting events.

has lived in Manila for 30 or more years, I was informed that there is the current fearful certainty that as soon as the American flag is taken down, Japan will step in and take what she wants."

"The city of Manila," she went on, "is in reality three cities—the modern American settlement, the old Philippine section and the walled Spanish fortress. The men dress, for the most part, in a loin cloth and a shirt, with the shirt-tail indiscriminately in or out; the women are clad in bright colored, hand-woven clothes consisting of a wrap-around skirt, blouse, gay belt and pouch, beads and headband."

"An interesting fact concerning the native dress is that all widowed or engaged men wear white lion cloths; married men wear blue, and bachelors wear red. The women's Bantoc—or Igorote—costumes are not restricted like that. Everyone carries 'devil sticks' to ward off evil spirits."

"We can't slight the great progress that has been made on the islands under American guidance," Miss Cadmus pointed out. "Today English is the only universal language the natives have; their own dialects vary so much from province to province that they cannot make themselves understood save in our language."

"Much of Manila's social life is in clubs, as each organization in the city has its own club, and every day from noon to 2 o'clock everybody takes a siesta. In the mountain districts, where it is difficult to transport equipment, we observed hundreds of natives sitting by the side of the road pounding rock—taking the place of a rock crusher!"

Japan was a source of delight to the women for its cleanliness, and courteous treatment of tourists. However, nobody was allowed to take snapshots near any fortification or in the vicinity of the Imperial palace in Tokyo. As they arrived in Yokohama the cherry blossom season was in full swing, and when their ship sailed into the harbor the view of Fujiama was thrilling. Miss Cadmus said.

The itinerary included a month's stay in Manila and the mountain resort of Baguio above Manila, and visits to Hong Kong, Kobe, Shimizu and Tokyo. At Kamakura was seen the great Buddha, Daibutsu, while the original tea house after which the Blue Willow pattern was fashioned, was visited in Shanghai.

ASCOT THRILLERS WILL BE REPEATED

Wednesday night's Legion Ascot speedway racing program, a series of short events arranged for the young drivers who are holding the spotlight while a number of the older drivers are in the east for the Indianapolis race, proved such a big success that a similar card has been arranged for next Wednesday evening.

The main event will be a 60-lap coast championship affair. Three five-lap qualifying heat races will nominate the field of 12 to compete in the long race and the two-lap helmet dash for the two fastest qualifying cars and a five-lap consolation race are also scheduled.

Wednesday's 40-lap feature was a thriller from start to finish and practically the same field will compete next Wednesday. The speedway's new scale of popular prices will again prevail.

P.J.C. REPAIR WORK HALTED BY THE STATE

Such a poor quality of concrete has been found in some of the 23-year old Pasadena Junior College buildings that all earthquake reconstruction work has been temporarily suspended until results of engineers' tests are known. Suspension was ordered at the recommendation of Frank A. Johnson, structural engineer for the State Division of Architecture.

School Superintendent John A. Sexson this week stated that if in using the old frames the school authorities can save the district taxpayers money, they will endeavor to do so. "However, our first consideration is safety," he said, "and we recognize the State Division of Architecture as the final and legal authority on the subject of school building safety."

"What Do You Mean, A Balanced Car?" Engineers, Mechanics And Stylists Co-ordinate In Solution Of This Question

WHAT is a balanced car? Different answers are given by different authorities. The mechanical expert says that a balanced car is one in which every rotating part is so accurately made that, even at high speeds, it does not tend to vibrate. The expert stylist defines the balanced car as one in which all component parts and elements are so skillfully combined as to create the effect of unity of the whole.

The chassis engineer, however, holds that the balanced car is one in which all units are so carefully designed, each in relation to the others, that the car fulfills its purpose with the highest possible degree of efficiency and satisfaction to the motorist.

Actually, according to McDonald & O'Boyle, of Monrovia, Chevrolet agents in this area, all three definitions must be met before balance can be achieved.

"Some of the costliest and most delicate machines in our Chevrolet plants," Mr. McDonald related, "are those precision devices that are designed for balancing parts such as the crankshaft, or the clutch assembly, or the flywheel. But even if every rotating part of the car were in absolutely perfect balance, the car might not be a 'balanced automobile'—a term in which the word 'balance' is used in a different sense.

"This other kind of balance is to be obtained only through the exercise of judgment and skill before the car or any part of it is built.

"As an example of this second kind of balance, consider acceleration ability and economy. Most motorists want both these qualities; otherwise the task would be easy. Cars of still greater efficiency could be built (as judged by miles per gallon) by sacrificing speed and acceleration and high-gear hill-climbing ability; so, too, Chevrolet Motor company could build cars of increased performance powers, but these would bring decreased economy. Actually, in designing a car, these two opposing factors must be balanced to give the motoring public both economy and performance in the ratio that the public wants.

"Fortunately, most decisions necessary to achieve a balanced car are not in the 'problem' class, but are made on the basis of certain knowledge of requirements. For example, a car must possess the proper balance between weight and power. The Blue Flame engine possesses a maximum horsepower of 80, and its design is such that it develops its maximum torque (or pulling power) at low engine speeds. A "Practically every element of the car is subject to this balancing. Brakes must achieve a balance with the weight and speed of the car, springs must be in balance with the load, gear ratios must effect a balance between power and load, tire sizes must balance with car weight, steering gear ratios must balance the resistance of the tires on the road.

"A balanced car, in brief, is one that fulfills its purpose with the highest degree of efficiency and satisfaction to the motorist. In addition, it must possess visual balance—it must look its part.

OBITUARIES

JOHN E. THOMPSON

Death came Tuesday night to John E. Thompson, 75, a Sierra Madre resident for over twenty years. He died at his home at 45 North Auburn avenue, after an extended illness.

Masonic burial services were conducted by the local Lodge at the Grant Funeral Parlors last night at 7:30 o'clock, and other services are scheduled for 10 a.m. today at Forest Lawn where interment will take place.

Mr. Thompson is remembered by many Sierra Madreans for his service with the local post office, having been a carrier here from 1918 until 1925 when he retired because of age and disability. He first entered the postal service in Cincinnati, Ohio, in July 1891 and held his position until 1904.

Born in Branch Hill, Ohio, on March 31, 1860, Mr. Thompson is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Alice Rothschild, of Sierra Madre; Lida McElroy, of Norwood, and Jennie Thompson, of Monterey, Ohio, and Mrs. O. R. Sartin, of Cincinnati, Ohio; and one brother, M. A. Thompson, of Monterey, Ohio.

PRISCILLA LIMBAUGH

Death came Sunday night to Mrs. Priscilla Limbaugh of Inglewood and former resident of Sierra Madre. Mrs. Limbaugh was in her 85th year, and was the step-mother of D. D. Limbaugh of 52 East Montecito, and great grandmother of LeRoy Limbaugh also of this city. Funeral services were held at Uter's Funeral Parlors, in Los Angeles, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. S. R. Sheriff of Bethany Church, this city, officiated.

Eastern Star Will Serve Ham Dinner Monday Evening

As reservations to the O. E. S. Social Club's ham dinner to be served at Masonic Temple Monday evening are limited to 100, everyone is asked to secure a ticket as early as possible from any Eastern Star member. The dinner is to be held at 6:30 o'clock, and will be followed by an evening of cards.

Woman's Club Notes

By Mildred Curtis Bolms

"FOR after all, we are vessels of a very limited content."

Not all men read all books; it is only a chosen few that any man will find his appointed food," said the beloved "R.L.S." one day. The same Robert Louis Stevenson who, at one time, looked across the San Gabriel Valley from our own Sierra Madre to his Samoa.

This preface brought another day in books and plays to the Sierra Madre Woman's Club; yes, the second-to-last review by Mrs. Manchester, too, to be explicit.

Right now, one of the really serious issues in our civic life is the election on June 7 of two trustees on the Board of Education in the Pasadena District, of which Sierra Madre is a part. Mrs. Ruth Klemme Boyard called the attention of the club to this matter and introduced Mrs. Beatrice J. Dane, of Pasadena as one of the candidates.

There are approximately eleven candidates and one of the incumbents, Dr. Parker of Pasadena, also addressed the group. He stressed the point that the students are receiving a maximum of education at a minimum of cost to the taxpayer. And those frills, so necessary to inculcate a love for the finer things in life, have not been entirely removed from the curriculum, he said.

Mrs. Dane has been affiliated with church, school and YWCA work in Pasadena since 1900. She is the author of children's tales which are being used as textbooks and readers in many of the schools and libraries. She was also a teacher in the Pasadena schools.

"In 'The Price of Peace,' it is true, Simonds sees through a dark glass darkly," said Mrs. Manchester, "and a bitter pill is offered for our delectation, but what of that?"

"You must read this book, by all means, for it gives a most comprehensive 'close up' of the three great static nations, the United States, Great Britain, and France, and tells us several facts it behooves us to know."

"Then there's 'Peace and the Plain Man,' by Sir Norman Angell. You know how all of us have gone through the throes of knowing we never thought of giving the right answer to a question until the day after? That will not occur so frequently if we digest some of Angell's 29 questions and right answers."

"Who doesn't love fairies?" asked E. P. Pan, you remember? Well, I think the same spirit could be applied to the question, 'Who doesn't love beautiful architecture?' And when 'Ramesis to Rockefeller,' by C. H. Whitaker is reviewed, I must tell you this book is vastly more fascinating than lots of fiction," said Mrs. Manchester with vehemence.

And then, oh, so many, many interesting things, as usual, were discussed. The "Old Maid," for example, and "Lynn Malone's Daughter," by Kay Lipke with whom Mrs. Manchester enjoyed an informal breakfast one morning at the Biltmore; and, oh yes, "Now in November" by Josephine Johnson; and John Cowper Powys' "The Art of Happiness" which is another one of those books that plumb the depths.

The next Book Day in June will be enjoyed in the gardens of the club. It will be most worth-while.

Azusans Take 18-5 Beating From Sojers

Sierra Madre's soldiers went off on another batting spree at the school athletic field Tuesday evening and overwhelmed Azusa's veterans by a score of 18 to 5.

Blanked in the first inning, the local defenders unleashed a terrific attack in the second that netted four runs and came back in the fourth to send five more across. They added two more in the seventh and three in the eighth and wound up the fracas with four more in their final turn at bat.

The total bombardment netted 21 hits—those solid plunkers that keep the stands of the hometown in an uproar when the home team is making them and that bring sadness and dismay when the visiting batsmen are playing with the offerings of the home twirler. Gwynn and Harkness helped themselves to homers. Burroughs picked off two and Harkness and Mathis each had one three-bagger, while Pratt had two and Reavis one double. Eight errors by the visitors had no little to do with the big lead of the locals.

Not under pressure at any stage of the game, Pratt took it comparatively easy and allowed the visitors to hit rather freely so that his teammates might get some fielding practice. When occasion required he bore down and used the strike-out route with his smoke ball. The box score:
